The invention of Paint-by-Numbers is attributed to Max S. Klein, (former) owner of the Palmer Paint Company of Detroit, Michigan, and to its artist Dan Robbins, who conceived the idea and created many of the initial paintings. Palmer Paint began distributing paint-by-number kits under the Craft Master label in 1951. By 1954, Palmer had sold some twelve million kits. Popular subjects ranged from landscapes, seascapes, and pets to Leonardo da Vinci’s “The Last Supper”. Paint-kit box tops proclaimed, “Every man a Rembrandt!”

In an interesting twist of fate, Palmer Paint is working together again with Dan Robbins to celebrate the 60th anniversary of Paint-by-Numbers by introducing two new 60th anniversary collector edition sets. The first of which is, “The Last Supper” which was one of the most successful sets ever sold. The second is a new amazing original by Dan Robbins called, “Gone But Not Forgotten 2001”. This new set was created to honor survivors and those who lost their lives in the attacks on September 11th, 2001.
The Twin Towers are shown in magnificent spirit standing tall across a dark and cloudy Manhattan skyline which now changes with renewed hope as the light clouds and the blue sky begin the clearing for a brighter tomorrow while the images in light of the towers themselves remind us of those who are deepest in our hearts today and yesterday.

Please enjoy with remembrance...
